BIG FIRES.

Fanned by a high wind, a fire which started at Lake St. Charles, La., shortly after 4 o'clock Saturday swept over 20 or more blocks of the city, destroying several hundred buildings and resulting in a property loss estimated at about $3,000,000. Two thousand persons were rendered homeless. Many houses in the path of the flames were dynamited, but showers of sparks were swept beyond the gaps thus made, lighting the buildings on the farther side. Within a short time the wind had driven the fire over a space two miles in length, leaving a mass of ruins in its wake. While many of the buildings destroyed were merely frame cottages, scores of handsome structures also fell prey to the flames. Special trains bringing fire apparatus from Jennings, La., Alexandria, La., and Orange, Tex., were dispatched, but long before their arrival, the flames had done the most of their damage. The town will be rebuilt immediately.

The worst fire that Ridgway, Pa., has experienced in half a century, sea in the woodworking plant of the Hyde-Murphy Company, Saturday morning, and despite the combined efforts of four fire departments, completely destroyed the plant, swept across Race street and totally consumed a portion of the business section on Main street. The loss is conservatively estimated at $5,000,000.

FELLS TREE UPON HIS CHILD. James Ball's miscalculation in felling a big tree on his farm in Baltimore county, Md., near Warren, Thursday afternoon, cost the life of his 4-year-old daughter. The child went with her father to see the tree fall. The father, an experienced woodman, selected a spot where he said "And don't move; the tree will fall downhill and you can see it go."

He chopped the tree on the downhill side. The child clapped her hands in glee as it began to shake. Then, by what seemed an unaccountable freak of fate, it swerved and fell in another way, crushing the child. Frankly, the father tore aside the huge branches, but one had smashed the skull of the child, who died in a few minutes.

Suicide while insane was the verdict today of the coroner in London in the case of Chester Ives, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was found Thursday asphyxiated in his lodging house. Ives was formerly the Paris correspondent of a New York paper, but of late was a newspaper free lance. He left a letter saying his suicide was due to poverty.
